“ *To Jacob’s Family...
The very concept of death is tragic. Add to that the death of one’s child or sibling, the tragedy will only have the boundaries you ascribe to it. Praying for your sustenance and reassuring you that GOD is able to set the boundary. My family has experienced the loss of our youngest and by HIS grace we continue unto this day!!!! Take courage, strength, compassion, and mercies and above all these...LOVE. Love for one another towards our Creator who sees and knows all...*

“ I have so many thoughts, prayers, hugs, kisses, and genuine condolences for my sister, Davia, my brother, Floyd, my Ivory girl, our chef, Avery, David, and Mr. Stefen. I am hoping that you will find comfort in knowing that Jacob's smile would light up a room. He was a fantastic cousin to our children. He always made them feel welcome whenever we visited. He took the time to drive them around when he got his license. He was the kind of nephew that reached for love (all of the letters he wrote me while in boot camp) and gave love in return. My heart hurts in a way that I can not describe. So, I'm leaving this sentiment: Take courage in knowing you are not alone and you never will be. Love and care, Cindy

Jacob was a nephew I met once but never got to know, none the less that news pierced my HEART. Of course no words can sooth a broken heart but may the love from God sooths your pain.

I had to smile as I read about Jacob's manners. Yes, he was very mannerable and he prided himself with being neat. My heart aches as well for my nephew gone too soon. May the peace of God which passeth all understanding heal our hearts.

Yes, Jacob had a knack for making sure his cousins were included in activities. He had a funny side and I do love how you guys bonded as cousins growing up. Sofia, mommy feels your pain. I'm going to miss the Jacob man too!
