“ Jim was always a warm-hearted person, with an infectious sense of humor and a love for telling jokes. I'll always remember the afternoon we spent riding in his MGB—he was so kind to everyone he met. He never failed to make me laugh. Jim will be deeply missed and was loved by so many. Carol

“ My husband and I became Jim’s neighbors this past June. In just six months, we shared so much laughter and kindness with him. Jim welcomed us with open arms, helped us countless times, and introduced us to everyone so we could truly feel part of the neighborhood. He was the best neighbor and friend anyone could ask for. We are grateful to have known him, and he will be deeply missed. RIP 🙏🕊️📖

“ We are certainly going to miss Jim, we would usually get together weekly to work on one of our cars, or just hangout and play guitar. He was the most selfless, giving person I ever knew. I am going to miss his quick wit and spirited personality. We've all lost a good friend.

“ Yesterday, Brad and I lost a very dear college friend, He and Brad grew up together and I met him in college. He was quirky, stubborn, and had a great sense of humor. He introduced me to Brad at Bradley. If it hadn't been for Jimmy, i wouldn't have found my Brad. We are heartbroken over this huge loss. Endless memories from our college years at Bradley University and years of friendship post-college will stay with us forever. RIP my friend. 💔😭

Jim was of the nicest, most selfless person ever. I would tease him about being the mayor of Moore Ave., he waved and spoke to everyone who passed by. Jim was always helping out neighbors and friends. He was very much loved and will be sorely missed.

Jim was like a brother to us, always lending a hand to everyone and never expecting anything in return. I wish we could have had just one more chat on the park bench. We are going to miss you, "brother".

Jim was one of the kindest, gentlest, most generous people I ever met. He was always willing to help, so others were willing to help him in return. His passion for his hobbies and interests was immense. I'll miss our weekly "car guy" get-togethers. We were always doing things to improve his Triumph! Attached is a picture after we finished rebuilding and improving his engine. He was so thrilled, happy and proud!
