“ The Doc always told great stories, most of them true (lol) along with good jokes you wanted to write down. My Dad taught me a long time ago, to be a good talker, you needed to also be a good listener. Anytime I needed to talk to the Doc about something, anything, he always made the time to listen. I will miss his intelligent way of articulation no matter what the topic. A few days from now i'm sure he will be showing St. Michael & others a new card trick. Bobby Voltl

“ Last night my brother-in-law Dr. James Nuzzo passed away at the age of 76. His second marriage was to my oldest sister Stephanie in the 1970's. We lost Stephanie 21 years ago to a severe illness. My brother-in-law eventually remarried 13 years ago to his current wife Kathy. Kathy is one of the most wonderful ladies I have ever met in my life and Jimmy loved her with every ounce of his heart, which means we love her with every ounce of our hearts. All of us from his family to his friends and the patients that visited his practice will miss this wonderful man and the difference he made in so many lives. He was a Skilled Surgeon, Philanthropist, World Class Magician, Private Pilot and a master of the Martial Arts, just to name a few things about him. Jim could remember and tell jokes like no one else I've ever met. His sense of humor, wonderful smile and love of fine clothing what is legendary. Just his Tie Collection should probably be put on display somewhere. Jim was always a part of the happiest and saddest times in my life, today is no different. Rest In Peace my friend and remember, even God loves a good Card Trick.

“ Shock of shocks. As first cousins we grew up together and enjoyed so many happy hours as members of a very special family. Life was filled with joy and fulfillment whenever we and our parents, horde of other cousins, and later our own kids got together. He had just shared with me the dire news of a powerful and devastating illness. Two elderly professionals always ended our Facebook and e-mail messages with "love you" in our signatures. So, Jimmy, for now, and in the heavens above - "I Love You." Cousin Paul Lazzaro

Paul Lazzaro - May 08, 2019 at 06:05 PM

“ I only met Jimmy last year, but he immediately made me feel like a long-time friend. We compared notes on different magic effects; he said he liked my work and the way I wove stories and magic together. I, of course, was amazed by his skills...but knowing his background, I shouldn't have been. We kept in touch over the year, and he wanted to invite me to his house to share a few things, but it wasn't to be.

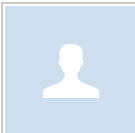

Jimmy, thank you for your friendship and your many kindnesses.

Steve Friedberg - May 08, 2019 at 05:41 PM

*“ My heart is heavy for Jimmy's passing. It is heartbreaking and my condolences are sent for Kathy, his extended family and the many, many friends and others who knew him. He was a kind man and always patient and understanding. The world has suffered a great loss but Heaven is surely enriched. Love you Jimmy and Kathy.

“ Jim was one of the nicest and carrying person I knew. He always had a great smile and was always complimentary.

He treated his patience with kindness and was compassionate. His patience and friends loved and admired him as a great and carrying person. Sharon and I will miss him and we know he is showing his slight of hand to the those in heaven.

“ As a fellow magician and long-timed (45 years) friend to Jimmy, we spent many hours together performing, discussing, and creating magic. Jimmy's skill and soft-selling presentations were a joy to behold. We also collaborating on his seminal book (ART AND ARDOR AT THE CARD TABLE) and, although he was modest about his skills and reputation, he was widely known and respected throughout the magic world. The legacy of his contributions to the magic world will surely live on. I, along with the Chicago Marlophiles, will certainly miss him Meanwhile, with deep sadness let me extend my condolences to his his wife and extended family...
