“My mother was a woman carved from strength a fighter who carried more pain, more heartbreak, and more responsibility than anyone ever should. Yet she kept going. She kept loving. She kept showing up for her family even when her own heart was tired.

She fought all the way to the end, not out of fear, but out of love.

Love for us.

Love for the life she built.

Love for the people she protected with every breath.

But now... she doesn't have to fight anymore.

She doesn't have to endure pain, heartbreak, or suffering.

Her body is no longer tired. Her spirit is no longer weighed down.

She is finally at peace.

I take comfort in knowing she is in a better place — held gently in the arms of our Lord, surrounded by the family who went before her. She is reunited with the ones she missed, the ones she cried for, my aunt, my grandmother, the ones she carried in her heart long after they were gone.

There is no more struggle where she is.

No more wounds.

No more fear.

Only rest, warmth, and the love of God wrapped around her like light.

And even though I miss her with every part of me, I know she is safe now.

I know she is whole.

I know she is finally free.

Her strength lives in me.

Her love lives in me.

Her spirit walks with me every day.

Rest now, Mom.

Your fight is over.

*Your peace is eternal.
And your love will never leave me.
I love you ma...you'll ALWAYS be in my heart.*

And where are you are make sure you keep kicking butt at Rummy

“ I will always cherish the times we had growing up together, we'd sit at night and think about what would it be like when we marry and start a family. Thank you for being my friend. Until we meet again, peace and love, Gladys. ”

“ Although we only knew Tanger as neighbors for a short time — almost six years — she truly enjoyed the tomatoes and peppers we would bring her from our garden. Please know that we are thinking of your family during this difficult time. Wishing you comfort and peace in the days ahead. ”
